UNIFORM MAINE CITATIONS

2012 Edition

University of Maine
School of Law
August 24, 2012

To the Members of the Bench, the Bar, and Law Students in the State of Maine

Over the past twenty-nine years, Uniform Maine Citations has become an important guide to the form of citation appropriate for use in Maine. Professor Nancy Wanderer, Attorney Charles Leadbetter, and a group of dedicated law students, with support and suggestions from Justices and Law Clerks of the Supreme Judicial Court, have earned our appreciation for the work they have done in creating this 2012 Edition of Uniform Maine Citations.

This edition is significantly modified to reflect dramatic changes in legal research practices in recent decades. It continues to provide direction for proper citation form and format, and it provides guidance for locating Maine specific legal research materials in print and electronic formats. The new edition will be available to all on the Maine Law Review website. It is planned to be updated at least annually by members of the Maine Law Review and others to keep current with developments in the rapidly changing world of electronic legal research.

I commend the University of Maine School of Law and the Maine Law Review for publishing Uniform Maine Citations and for their many other contributions to the cause of legal writing and scholarship in Maine.

Sincerely yours,

/S/
Leigh Ingalls Saufley

Preface

Beginning with the 2010 edition and continuing through the 2012 edition, Uniform Maine Citations undertakes to provide annually updated guidance for the location and proper form for citation to Maine-specific primary and secondary sources of legal research and writing. This annual edition represents a significant departure from the original three editions in several important respects. First, it will be published on the Maine Law Review web site and updated at least annually to recognize new developments and new sources of Maine-related legal research. Because Uniform Maine Citations will be published and regularly updated on-line, and can be downloaded and printed from the web site, no separate print publication will be prepared. Second, this edition recognizes that today most legal research, at least for primary sources, is conducted using electronic legal research methods. Accordingly, this edition includes greater guidance for identification of and citation to electronic sources. Third, Uniform Maine Citations is reorganized so that similar types of references appear together. The organization is grouped by primary or secondary research materials, including subdivisions for (1) statutory and legislative materials, including constitutions, statutes, legislative documents, and municipal ordinances; (2) court decisions, rules, and documents; (3) executive agency regulations, reports, and other documents; and (4) secondary materials that analyze and interpret the primary materials, including Maine-specific treatises, practice books, and legal periodicals.

Beyond guidance for proper citation, the primary and secondary sources identified in this edition constitute a useful catalogue of materials available to support research into Maine laws, judicial opinions, and legal issues. Further, this edition identifies the major law libraries and the state and federal court and state government web sites that provide free access to primary sources for Maine-specific legal research materials.

This substantial revision of Uniform Maine Citations was initiated by and has been prepared under the direction of Professor Nancy A. Wanderer, Director of the Legal Research and Writing Program at the University of Maine School of Law. Significant assistance has been provided by Donald G. Alexander, Associate Justice of the Maine Supreme Judicial Court and an Adjunct Faculty Member at the Law School; Charles K. Leadbetter, Special Assistant Attorney General and an original author of Uniform Maine Citations when first published in 1983; and Benjamin M. Birney, 2012-13 Managing Editor of Maine Law Review who made the substantive changes. Important support and suggestions for proper form of citations has been provided by Rose Everitt and Crystal Bulges, Senior Law Clerks for the Maine Supreme Judicial Court and former editors of the Maine Law Review.

We hope the 2012 edition of Uniform Maine Citations provides useful guidance to the bench, the bar, law students, and the public in locating, using, and citing to sources and materials supporting Maine legal research.

August 2012
A. Locating Research Materials

Most research materials identified in this edition can be located in print at the three major law libraries in Maine: the Maine State Law and Legislative Reference Library, located in the State Capitol Building in Augusta; the Donald Garbrecht Law Library at the University of Maine School of Law, located at the Law School in Portland; and the Cleaves Law Library, located in the Cumberland County Courthouse in Portland. In addition to having the print materials available, each of these law libraries has a web site and materials that can provide guidance to support on-scene or on-line legal research efforts. The library web sites each provide links to other web sites that provide free access to primary materials – constitutions, statutes, regulations, ordinances, court opinions, and court rules – for legal research.

The Maine law library web sites can be located using the library name and most common web search applications. Alternatively the web address of the library may be used and saved for repeat use. Following is the web address for each principal Maine law library:

1. The Maine State Law and Legislative Reference Library is accessible at www.maine.gov/legis/lawlib;

2. The Donald Garbrecht Law Library at the University of Maine School of Law is accessible at www.mainelaw.maine.edu/library;

Other web sites providing free access to primary materials for legal research relating to Maine issues include:

1. The Maine Judicial Branch (or Maine Courts), www.courts.state.me.us/, for Maine Supreme Judicial Court opinions, court rules and amendments, administrative orders, and information about the Maine courts and related entities regulating bar admissions and the professional conduct of judges and attorneys.

2. State of Maine government, www.maine.gov, for access to information and web sites for all State executive agencies and the legislative and judicial branches of State government.

4. Maine Revised Statutes, www.mainelegislature.org/legis/statutes/, for currently effective versions of the Maine Revised Statutes, except that in the fall there may be a gap between the time when most amendments enacted in the current year become effective and the time that all amendments are incorporated into the Maine Revised Statutes.

6. The United States Supreme Court, www.supremecourt.gov, for opinions, court rules, briefs and transcripts of oral arguments, and other information about the Court.

B. Citation Practices

1. General References

Proper citation of sources and materials used in legal research and writing enables one to find the referenced source in order to review it in detail or to check for the accuracy of the reference to the source. This edition of the Uniform Maine Citations provides uniform citations for materials used in legal research and writing relating to Maine issues. When this edition does not provide guidance for proper citation format, users should consult the comprehensive national citation practice books, The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation (Columbia Law Review Ass’n et al. eds., 19th ed. 2010) or ALWD Citation Manual: A Professional System of Citation (4th ed. 2010).

When guidance for citation to a particular source cannot be found, the writer should develop a citation that will enable the writer and any other person to find the source for review if desired. A citation should include (1) the name and author, if any, of the internal article or subdivision specifically discussed; (2) the name of the publication in which the source appears; (3) the page number or other identifier of the referenced source within the publication; (4) the date of the publication; and (5) if the source was viewed on a web site, the date of the visit to the web site. For example: Data and transparency: of governments and geeks, The Economist, 65 (Feb. 6-12, 2010); Aaron S. Bayer, The collateral order doctrine after ‘Mohawk,’ The National Law Journal, 14 (Feb. 8, 2010).¹

2. References to Web Site Sources

Today, web-based research is the primary method for identifying and reviewing most materials used in legal research and writing. There is lingering concern as to whether reference material found on the web is authentic, accurate, and current. However, experience indicates minimal basis for these concerns when utilizing the web site of a court or other government agency that has published a particular document, or web sites of government or academic law libraries that have uploaded their material from or hyperlinked to the original government source. The same may be said of the principal commercial legal research sources, LEXIS and Westlaw, which have uploaded their material from the original source and added content like additional citations, new page numbers, and headnotes, without changing the original text. In fact, web-based sources may be more accurate and current than print sources because copies of official documents are added to court or agency web sites as they are published, and changes in documents like administrative or court rules, and occasional changes in administrative orders or court opinions, are often incorporated into web publications as soon as the change is made or takes effect.

Electronic research can yield results as authentic and accurate, and more current, than printed materials research. However, URLs present three unique challenges: (1) URL codes may be subject to change each time a web site format changes; (2) many URL codes now are a line or more long; and (3) a single keyboarding error in entry can render the citation useless. This edition recommends a variation on the standard citation format to address these issues.

Citation to electronic research materials should utilize the same uniform citation formats applicable to print material whenever possible. The Bluebook Rules B10 (for practitioner documents) and 18.2 (for law review articles) may always be used in their standard forms to cite to authorities available on the web. This includes Rules B10.1.2 and 18.2.1(c), providing for parallel citations to increase access to the resource. However, if the writer of a practitioner document is concerned that the URL is too long or may change in the future, he or she may replace it with (1) the recognized name of the web site, (2) the category heading on the web site under which the material was found, and (3) the date that the web site was visited. A parenthetical indication following the main citation should then provide the remaining guidance to access the document file on the web site. Thus:

-- The January 2001 advisory notes to Rule 7 of the Maine Rules of Appellate Procedure, accessed on the Maine Judicial Branch web site, would be cited as follows:

2 For instance, the URL code for the third edition of Uniform Maine Citations changed between the initial draft and the final draft of the 2010 edition.
-- A United States Supreme Court opinion without an available proprietary cite, accessed on that Court’s web site, would be cited as follows:

-- A Maine Department of Environmental Protection hearing notice regulation, accessed on the Maine Secretary of State’s web site, would be cited as follows:

-- An article in the Maine Sunday Telegram:

OR

NOTE: This exception to Rules B10 and 18 only applies to practitioner documents. Law review articles should continue to follow Rule 18 as written.

3. Abbreviations

Abbreviation practice for this edition generally follows the practices recommended in The Bluebook Rule 12.9.3. However, for writing prepared for Maine courts or another forum or audience limited to Maine, this edition recommends that for citation to Maine statutes and rules, the abbreviation “Me.” not be used, and that, consistent with general Maine citation practice, only the letter “M.” be used. Thus, by example:

― “M.R.S.” means the Maine Revised Statutes.
“M.R.S.A.” means the Maine Revised Statutes Annotated.

Appeals to the Maine Supreme Judicial Court, sitting as the Law Court when it considers appeals, have docket numbers that include the abbreviation of the county of origin of the appeal. For example, And-10-696. The only exceptions are direct appeals from the Public Utilities Commission (PUC), the Board of Environmental Protection (BEP), the Business and Consumer Docket (BCD), the Workers’ Compensation Board (WCB), and some appeals limited to criminal sentences (SRP).

Maine Superior Court cases and decisions also have docket numbers that include an abbreviation for the county where the case was filed. For purposes of citation to docket numbers, Maine county names should be abbreviated. The abbreviation should use the first three letters of the county’s name, as follows:

Androscoggin..........................................................And Aroostook..................................................................Aro
Cumberland..................................................................Cum
Franklin..................................................................Fra
Hancock..................................................................Han
Kennebec..................................................................Ken
Knox..................................................................Kno
Lincoln..................................................................Lin
Oxford..................................................................Oxf
Penobscot..................................................................Pen
Piscataquis..............................................................Pis
Sagadahoc.................................................................Sag
Somerset..................................................................Som
Waldo..................................................................Wal
Washington..................................................................Was
York..................................................................Yor

The county name is not abbreviated when a trial court is itself referenced in a judicial opinion or other legal writing: “Superior Court (Lincoln County, Cole, J.”); “Knox County Probate Court (Emery, J.).”
PRIMARY SOURCES

D. Constitutional Commissions

1. Constitutional Commission of 1875

The Constitutional Commission of 1875 proposed seventeen separate amendments to the Maine Constitution. The Commission’s proposed amendments, which appear as proposed resolves among the legislative documents of the 54th Legislature (1875), should be cited by reference to the number and title assigned them by the Commission as follows:

Const. Comm’n 1875, Proposed Amend. No. 5 (Apportionment of Representatives).

2. Constitutional Commission of 1963

The four reports of the 1963 Constitutional Commission should be cited as follows:

L.D. 1476 at 8 (101st Legis. 1963).
II. STATUTES AND ORDINANCES

The Uniform Maine Citations format for Statutes and Ordinances generally follows The Bluebook Rule 12 and ALWD Citation Manual Rule 14. The Uniform Maine Citations formats for related legislative materials should be used in place of The Bluebook Rule 13 and ALWD Citation Manual Rules 15 and 16 where they differ.

A. Maine Revised Statutes (M.R.S.) and Maine Revised Statutes Annotated (M.R.S.A.)

In its opinions, the Law Court cites to Maine Revised Statutes (M.R.S.) for current statutes and Maine Revised Statutes Annotated (M.R.S.A.) for statutes dated 2004 and earlier. Citation to either is acceptable in practice.

Maine Revised Statutes is a set of softbound volumes that West publishes annually without any annotations. The Maine Revised Statutes are the general laws governing the State of Maine. They may be found in many law libraries and larger public libraries. The Maine Revised Statutes may also be found on the Maine Legislature’s website. As an example of a citation to a Maine statute, 14 M.R.S. § 1851 means the referenced statute can be found in the statute books or on-line by looking for title 14 and then section 1851. The Maine Revised Statutes are organized into thirty-nine general categories or “titles.” Titles are subdivided into individual “sections.” Most titles also have an intermediate division into “chapters,” but chapter numbers are not included in citations to statutes.

When citing to Maine Revised Statutes for a statute currently in effect, include parenthetically the year of publication of the softbound volume.

1. A statute currently in effect should be cited as follows:

2. Subsections, paragraphs, and multiple paragraphs of the Maine Revised Statutes should be cited as follows:

   17-A M.R.S. § 360(1)(A), (B) (2011).

3. Consecutive sections or subsections should be cited by inclusive section or subsection numbers, not “et seq.,” as follows:

4. A law that has been modified by an amendment in effect before the annual republication of Maine Revised Statutes should be cited as follows:

amendment is enacted as emergency legislation, to take effect immediately upon the Governor’s signature.]

5. There will be a time in the fall of each year when laws enacted by the Legislature, and in effect in that year, will be incorporated into the electronic version of the Maine Revised Statutes that appears on the Maine Legislature’s website, before publication of the softbound edition of the Maine Revised Statutes for that year. If it is necessary to cite to the amended version of a statute or a newly enacted statute as it appears on the Legislature’s website, before publication of the softbound volume, the statute should be cited as follows:

Maine Revised Statutes Annotated is a set of hardbound volumes published by West. It is supplemented by annual pocket parts and, for some volumes, by separate pamphlets when there have been major statutory revisions. In addition to statutes and the Maine and U.S. Constitutions, Maine Revised Statutes Annotated includes a history of the development of Maine laws, a brief legislative history of each section, and brief head notes referencing Law Court, First Circuit, and United States District Court for the District of Maine opinions, and occasionally other sources that have discussed the section or previous versions of the section.

Citations to the Maine Revised Statutes Annotated should include reference to the title, section, subsection, and, in parentheses, to the year of copyright of the hardbound volume or supplement in which the statutory provision appears or, if a statute currently in force is accessed on line, the date that the database was accessed.

1. Sections contained entirely in a hardbound volume should be cited as follows:

2. Sections contained entirely in a pocket supplement should be cited as follows:

3. Sections, the provisions of which are cited in both a hardbound volume and its pocket supplement, should be cited as follows:

4. Sections contained in a separate softbound pamphlet, rather than a pocket supplement, should be cited as follows:

5. Subsections and paragraphs of the Maine Revised Statutes Annotated should be cited as follows:

6. Statutes no longer in effect should be cited as follows:

7. A version of a statute that has since been modified by an amendment should be cited as follows:

8. Consecutive sections or subsections should be cited by inclusive section or subsection numbers, not “et seq.,” as follows:

B. Maine Revised Statutes: 1841 to 1954

1. Before their last complete revision in 1964, the Maine Revised Statutes were revised nine times from 1841 to 1954. Statutory provisions appearing in these earlier revisions were not set forth by title and section number, but by chapter and section number. Sections contained in these nine revisions should be cited by reference to chapter and section number and year of the revision as follows:

R.S. ch. 171, § 22 (1841).
R.S. ch. 133, § 14 (1857).
R.S. ch. 133, § 16 (1871).
R.S. ch. 133, § 16 (1883).
R.S. ch. 134, § 18 (1903).
R.S. ch. 135, § 18 (1916).
R.S. ch. 145, § 18 (1930).
R.S. ch. 147, § 18 (1954).

2. Sections contained in a supplement to the 1954 revision should be cited as follows:

3. If for some reason citation cannot be made to one of these earlier revisions of the revised statutes, the statute should be cited by reference to the session law enacting it.

C. Commentary

1. Comments to Maine statutory provisions, with the abbreviation “cmt.” used in place of the term “comment,” should be cited as follows:

2. Comments to uniform acts or model codes that appear in the Maine Revised Statutes Annotated, if citation to the Uniform Law rather than the Maine statute or Maine comment is necessary, should be cited by the uniform act or model code provision and the year of the comment as follows:

D. Session Laws

Maine session laws should be cited by the year, chapter number, and, where applicable, the section number. Enactments passed in even-numbered years since 1920 are cited by reference to the preceding odd-numbered year. When the effective date of an enactment has special significance, it should be included.

1. Public Laws should be cited as follows:

P.L. 2009, ch. 402, § 18 (emergency, effective June 15, 2009). [The “emergency” reference would appear only when an amendment is enacted as emergency legislation, to take effect immediately upon the Governor’s signature.]
2. Private and Special Laws should be cited as follows:

3. Resolves should be cited as follows:

Resolves 2007, ch. 183.

4. Constitutional Resolutions should be cited as follows:

5. Legislative addresses by the Governor, the Chief Justice or others and proclamations of constitutional amendments should be cited by the year and page or pages of the Laws of Maine, as follows:

2009 Me. Laws 1499 (State of the Judiciary address of Chief Justice Leigh I. Saufley to first regular session of 124th Legis.).

E. Revisor’s Report

The annual Revisor’s Report made by the Revisor of Statutes pursuant to the Maine Revised Statutes, Title 1, section 95, in the course of the update of the statutory database by that office appears in the annual publication of the Laws of the State of Maine. It should be cited by the year, chapter number, the section number, and section revised, as follows:

F. Bills and Amendments to Bills

1. Legislative Documents

Legislative documents ("bills") should be cited by the legislative document number; where appropriate, the particular section of the bill, the summary, or the statement of fact; the session number of the legislature that considered the bill; and the year. The senate paper or house paper number assigned to the bill is omitted from the citation form both for brevity and because this number is not particularly helpful as a research device. Legislative documents should be cited as follows:

L.D. 1439 (124th Legis. 2009).

L.D. 1456, § 3 (124th Legis. 2009).

L.D. 1460, Summary (124th Legis. 2009).

Include a pinpoint citation as follows:

2. Amendments

A committee, senate, or house amendment should be cited by the letter assigned the amendment, the legislative document amended (and where appropriate the amendment being amended), the filing number of the amendment, the session number of the legislature that considered the amendment, and the year, as follows:

G. Legislative Debate

1. Pages of the Maine Legislative Record ordinarily should be cited by reference to the volume number (where appropriate), page, and year. Note that, starting in 1991, the page numbering differentiates between the Legislative Record for the House (H) and the Senate (S).

Legis. Rec. 745 (1943).

2. Some volumes of the Legislative Record contain debate for both a regular session and one or more special sessions. In such cases the debate at the special session(s) is repaginated.

Citation to debate in these volumes should include reference to the regular or special session during which the debate occurred, as follows:

H. Journals of the Senate and House

Pages of the Journal of the Senate of the State of Maine and the Journal of the House of Representatives of the State of Maine should be cited as follows:

House Jour. 2911 (123rd Legis. 2008).

Copies of the journals are available at the State Law Library, the Secretary of State (Archives), and the office of the branch of the Legislature producing the particular journal.

I. Reports of Joint Standing Committees and Joint Select Committees of the Legislature

A study report of a joint standing committee or joint select committee of the Legislature should be cited by reference to the title of the report, page, and date of publication (or year if precise date is unavailable).

J. Reports and Documents of Legislative and Gubernatorial Commissions

The Legislature or Governor from time to time will establish special commissions or committees to study an area of law and to issue a report on their findings. Occasionally the Legislature will establish the commission, typically by private and special law, but provide for appointment of its members by the Governor or other person(s). Citations to reports and other documents of these special commissions should include the name of the commission, the title of the report or document, page, and date of publication (or year if precise date is unavailable).

Commission to Study the Promotion, Expansion, and Regulation of the Harness Racing Industry, Final Report to the 123rd Legislature 1 (Dec. 2007).

Right to Know Advisory Committee, Second Annual Report to the 123rd Legislature (Jan. 2008).

K. Municipal Ordinances

A municipal ordinance that has been codified should be cited by reference to the municipality, code section or other subdivision, and the year of the code. An ordinance that is uncodified should be cited by reference to the municipality, name of the ordinance, section or other subdivision (if applicable), and the date of the most recent version the ordinance that was in effect to govern the issues presented in the case or other legal writing, as with statutes.

Portland, Me., Code § 3-16 (Dec. 1, 2000).

Manchester, Me., Mobile Home Ordinance § 3 (Mar. 6, 1982).

The use of ‘Me.’ as an abbreviation here is deliberately inconsistent with the general rule to abbreviate ‘Maine’ as ‘M.’ for rules and statutes (e.g. ‘M.R.S.A.’). This is so because the ‘Me.’ in this context serves only to identify a particular geographic locale, not to indicate a rule of statewide applicability.
III. COURT OPINIONS AND DOCUMENTS

The Uniform Maine Citations format for Court Opinions generally follows The Bluebook Rule 10 and ALWD Citation Manual Rule 12. This edition of the Uniform Maine Citations removes the need to use a parallel pincite for opinions of the Maine Supreme Judicial Court, beginning January 1, 1997 when the Court began to use a public domain citation with numbered paragraphs. Opinions from other jurisdictions that utilize a similar citation format to the Maine public domain citation may be cited accordingly. The Uniform Maine Citations format for court documents should be used in place of The Bluebook Rule 10.8.3 and ALWD Citation Manual Rule 12.19.

identifies the court location, e.g., Bangor (B) or Portland (P), while the second letter, when appearing, signifies the specific District Court judge assigned, e.g., Chief Judge John A. Woodcock, Jr. (W), Judge D. Brock Hornby (H), Judge George Z. Singal (S), or Judge Nancy Torresen (T).

f. Law Court Memoranda of decision

The Supreme Judicial Court has adopted M.R. App. P. 12(c), which addresses decisions issued by the Law Court. This Rule notes that a memorandum of decision does not establish precedent. The supporting advisory notes indicate that a memorandum of decision should not be cited as precedent in legal briefs, memoranda, or judicial opinions. Rule 12(c) replaces the Court’s “Administrative Order in Regard to Memoranda of Decision” dated February 9, 1989 (No. SJC-114). Rule 12(c) is discussed in detail in the August 2004 Advisory Note supporting adoption of Rule 12(c), which may be found at Maine Judicial Branch website/Rules, or at pages 106-07 of Alexander, Maine Appellate Practice (3d ed. 2008).

A memorandum of decision has a separate citation format and should be cited as follows:

h. A Law Court decision in which a petition for certiorari has been filed should be cited as follows:

m. A Law Court decision that has been vacated by the United States Supreme Court should be cited as follows:

n. A Law Court decision that has been modified on reconsideration should be cited as follows:

2. Sentence Review for Propriety

A sentence of any length may be appealed directly as a matter of right when the defendant claims that the sentence is illegal, imposed in an illegal manner, or beyond the jurisdiction of the court, and the illegality appears plainly in the record. State v. Schmidt, 2010 ME 8, ¶ 5, 988 A.2d 975; State v. Grindle, 2008 ME 38, ¶ 13, 942
A.2d 673. However, on direct appeal, the Law Court reviews only the legality, not the propriety, of a sentence. Schmidt, 2010 ME 8, ¶ 5, 988 A.2d 975. Since 1989, review of sentences for propriety, usually involving a challenge to the length of the sentence, has been subject to a separate discretionary review process before the Sentence Review Panel pursuant to M.R. App. P. 20. Decisions of the Law Court following reference to the Court by the Sentence Review Panel are treated and cited like any other Law Court opinion. Before 1989, sentence review for propriety was conducted by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Judicial Court.

a. Decisions of the former Appellate Division of the Supreme Judicial Court, which are not reported, should be cited as follows:

b. Decisions of the Sentence Review Panel of the Supreme Judicial Court, which are not reported, should be cited as follows:

   a. Opinion of the Justices

   Opinions issued pursuant to article VI, section 3, of the Maine Constitution are the opinions of the justices individually; however, the document responding to the article VI, section 3, question is called the Opinion of the Justices. It should be cited as follows:

   For opinions issued since 2001:

   Opinion of the Justices, 2004 ME 54, 850 A.2d 1145.

   For opinions issued from 1966 to 2001:

   Opinion of the Justices, 709 A.2d 1183 (Me. 1997).

   For opinions issued from 1885 to 1966:

c. Attorney Disciplinary and Bar Admission Proceedings

Prior to January 1982, the docket number used by the Supreme Judicial Court to identify attorney disciplinary and bar admission proceedings was “SJC-[No.].” Thereafter this form was replaced by “BAR-[year]-[No.]”

Decisions of a single justice, sitting in the Supreme Judicial Court, that are not reported, should be cited as follows:

Decisions of a single justice, sitting in the Supreme Judicial Court, relative to these original proceedings, that are reported in the _Maine Manual on Professional Responsibility_ should be cited as follows:

Appeals from single justice decisions in attorney admission and discipline matters are heard by the Supreme Judicial Court, sitting as the Law Court, _see Board of Overseers of the Bar v. Condon_, 2008 ME 24, 940 A.2d 1065 (per curiam), and should be cited in the same manner as Law Court opinions.

d. Other decisions of the Supreme Judicial Court:

The Supreme Judicial Court has original jurisdiction to hear and decide some other matters, including original actions reapportioning state legislative and congressional districts and appeals from proceedings when the Maine House of Representatives or the Senate reapportions itself. Decisions in such matters should be cited as follows:
For direct reapportionment:

For reapportionment appeals:

Citations to audio recordings of oral arguments before the Law Court should only be made if no written transcript is available. Citations to audio recordings of oral arguments should be as follows:

When a publically-accessible URL of the written transcript or audio recording is available, indicate the URL using the “available at” form. _See The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation_ R. 18.2.1, at 165-66 (Columbia Law Review Ass’n et al. eds., 19th ed. 2010). _See also_ ALWD & Darby Dickerson, _ALWD Citation Manual_, 331-32 (4th ed., Aspen Publishers 2010). D. Court Documents, Transcripts, and Records

When citing to court documents, transcripts, and records in the same case as the cited material, abbreviate the titles of those documents, cite to a paragraph or page, and enclose the entire citation in parentheses. If the citation serves as a citation sentence, place a period after the paragraph or page within the parentheses; if the citation serves as a clause, omit the period and place within the punctuation for the pertinent textual clause. If necessary to avoid confusion, include the date that the document was prepared.

IV. MAINE COURT RULES

The Uniform Maine Citations format for Maine court rules generally follows The Bluebook Rule 12.9.3 and ALWD Citation Manual Rule 17.

A. Location and Citation of Maine Court Rules and Advisory Notes

Current versions of all rules promulgated by the Maine Supreme Judicial Court appear on the Maine Judicial Branch web site. A separate part of the web site includes the complete, current rules and advisory notes or reporters notes for the Maine Rules of Civil Procedure, the Maine Rules of Criminal Procedure, the Maine Rules of Appellate Procedure, the Maine Rules of Evidence, and the Maine Rules of Professional Conduct. The Court’s web site is the most up-to-date source and thus the primary citation source for these materials. See Maine Court Rules, MAINE JUDICIAL BRANCH, http://www.courts.state.me.us/court_info/rules/rules.html (last visited June 7, 2011). Rules are also published annually, with some recent advisory notes, in the print publications Maine Court Rules (Tower) and Maine Rules of Court (West).

Reporter’s notes are the notes that support original promulgation of the rule. Advisory committee notes usually indicate an amendment recommended by a Court advisory committee. Advisory notes may indicate a rule developed by the Court itself, although the distinction between advisory committee notes and advisory notes is not always clear.

For citation to print sources:

Other less comprehensive print sources for reporter’s notes and advisory notes are addressed in the discussion of the individual rules.
Note: Citation to specific rules currently in effect and general citation to reporter’s notes or advisory notes for a particular rule need not include any date or source indicator with the rule citation.

VI. STATE EXECUTIVE AGENCY OPINIONS, ORDERS, REGULATIONS, AND REPORTS

In addition to the examples below, The Bluebook Rule 14 and ALWD Citation Manual Rule 20 may be useful for citing to various executive agency materials.

A. Attorney General Opinions

1. Almost continuously since 1901 the annual reports of the attorney general to the Governor, reprinted in hardbound volumes through 1972, include the opinions of the Attorney General. No other hardbound source exists. Consequently, citation to Attorney General opinions must reflect a parallel citation. The name of the opinion may be included.

2. Citation to Attorney General opinions from 1973 through 1978, which were neither reprinted in hardbound volumes nor numbered, should be cited to the date of the opinion as follows:

3. In 1979 the Attorney General’s office began numbering its opinions consecutively by year and number. Citation to Attorney General opinions from 1979 to the present should reflect this numbering system as follows:

Copies of Attorney General opinions are available at the Department of the Attorney General, the State Law Library, and the Donald L. Garbrecht Library at the University of Maine School of Law.

B. Executive Orders

The system used to number Executive Orders changed in January 1974 to reflect the fiscal year in which the order was issued. Executive Orders should be cited to the number and date of the order as follows:

Me. Exec. Order No. 6 FY 01/02 (June 19, 2002).
Copies of recent executive orders are available at the Office of the Governor, on the Governor’s Office web site, in the State Law Library, and in the University of Maine School of Law Library. Copies of older executive orders are available at the State Law Library and the Maine State Archives.

C. State Administrative Regulations

Rules and regulations adopted by Maine state administrative agencies are organized by the Secretary of State’s Office and published in the Code of Maine Rules (C.M.R.). The administrative rules and regulations are most readily available on-line through the Secretary of State’s web site and the link for “State Agency Rules” (http://www.maine.gov/sos/cec/rules/index.html).

The rules have assigned numbers including an initial two-digit number that identifies the state department or independent agency publishing the rule and a subsequent three-digit number that identifies either a subagency publishing the rule or a subdivision of the agency rules. Pursuant to the Secretary of State’s citation system, the reference “C.M.R.” follows these initial five numbers and is then followed by the chapter number and any section number(s) internal to the regulation. When subsections of rules appear on the page in a traditional outline structure, similar to the structure used in statutes, use the citation format used for citing subsections of statutes.

The year of the C.M.R. revision should be indicated in the citation. As of February 1, 2010, the latest revision was complete through December 31, 2008. See C.M.R. (2008), available at http://www.maine.gov/sos/cec/rules/. The “APA Website Status Log,” also available through the Secretary of State’s web site, must be checked to identify any more recent amendments.

Following are examples of citations to state agency rules or regulations using the Secretary of State’s numbering and reference system:

1. Department of Agriculture (01), Maine Milk Commission (015), regulation addressing definitions (§ 1) related to milk pricing orders (ch. 1) should be cited as follows:

   01-015 C.M.R. ch.1, § 1 (2008).

2. The milk pricing schedule (ch. 3), as amended effective January 26, 2010, should be cited as follows:

   01-015 C.M.R. ch. 3, amended by order 2010-12 (effective January 26, 2010).
3. Department of Environmental Protection (06), procedural regulations (096), covering hearings (ch. 20), including notice requirements (§ 2), for contents of a hearing notice (B) should be cited as follows:

06-096 C.M.R. ch. 20, § 2(B) (2008).

4. The print publication of the Code of Maine Rules is organized by volume numbers, with citation as follows:

4 C.M.R. 18 134 001-2 § 1.4 (1999).

Volume numbers, independent of the department and sub-agency numbering system, are not included in the numbering system on-line. However, use of volume numbers, when they can be identified, is preferred if the hard volumes are available.
